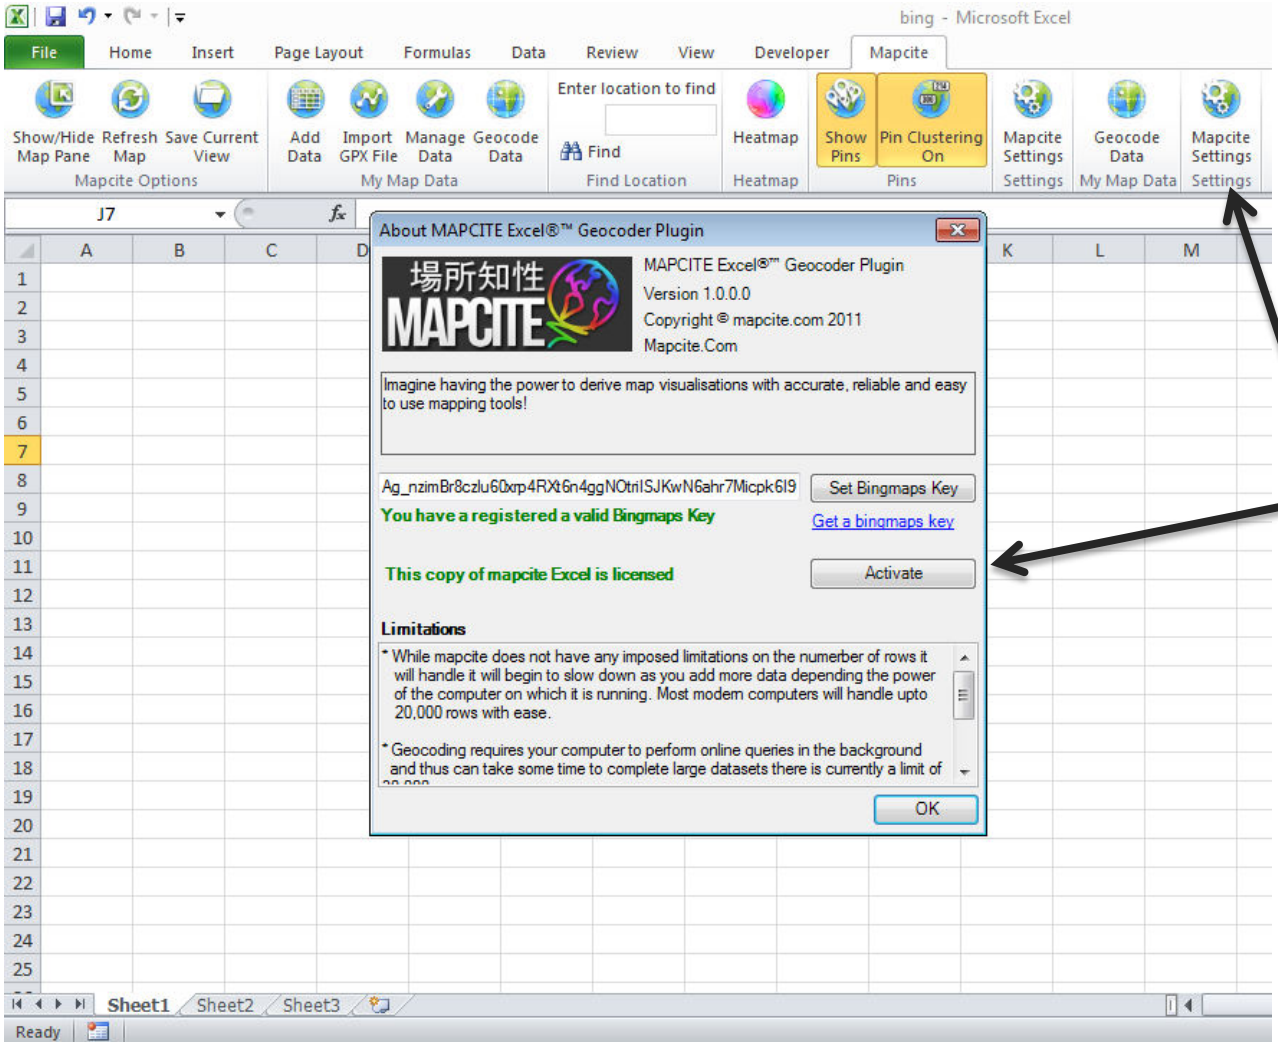
a tour of features

introducing

MAPCITE Excel®™ AddIn

Setting Password, Trial Version

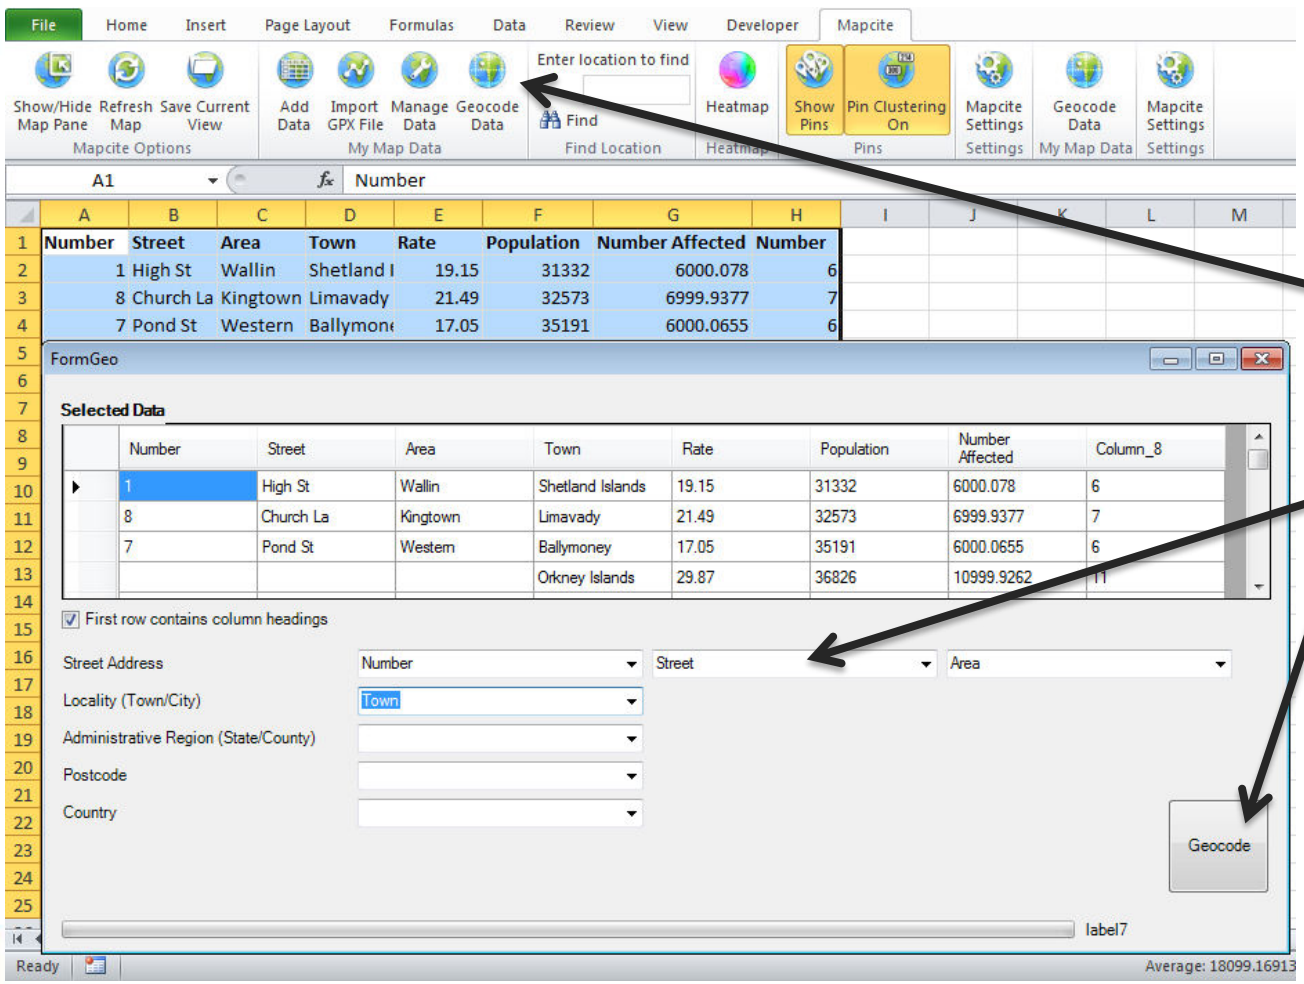
Getting Started:
Enter password after downloading application



1. Open MapCite Settings .
2. Activate by entering Password

GeoCoding Ecel Data

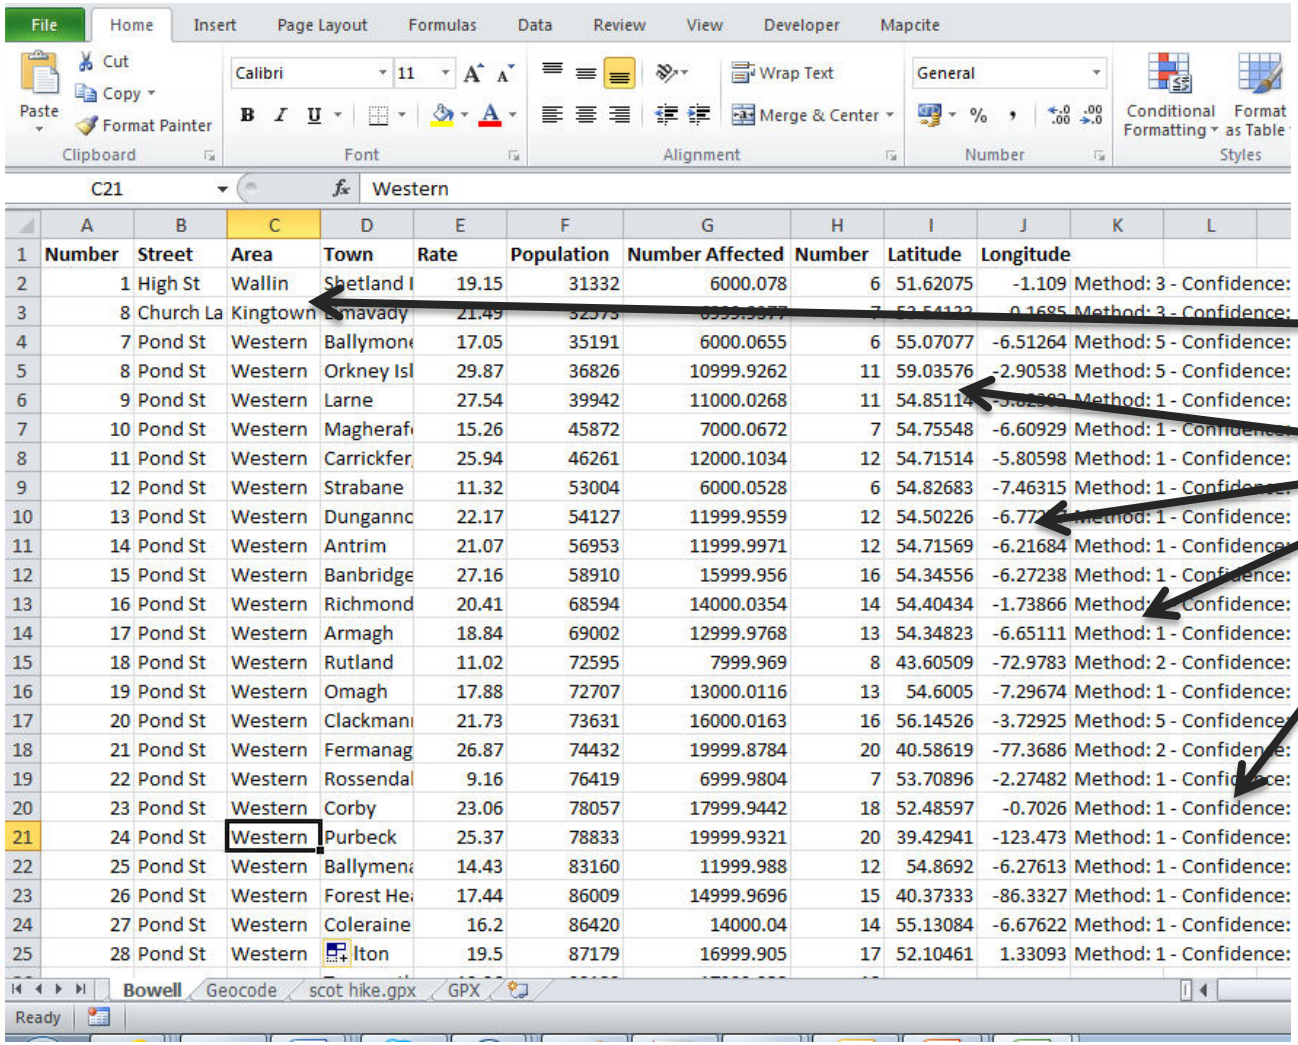
Open the spreadsheet to be mapped, highlight the area to be geocoded. Follow the steps 1, 2 and 3 (below)



1. Click Geocode Data Button
2. Fill in Address Columns
3. Click Geocode1 Button

Understanding GeoCoded Data

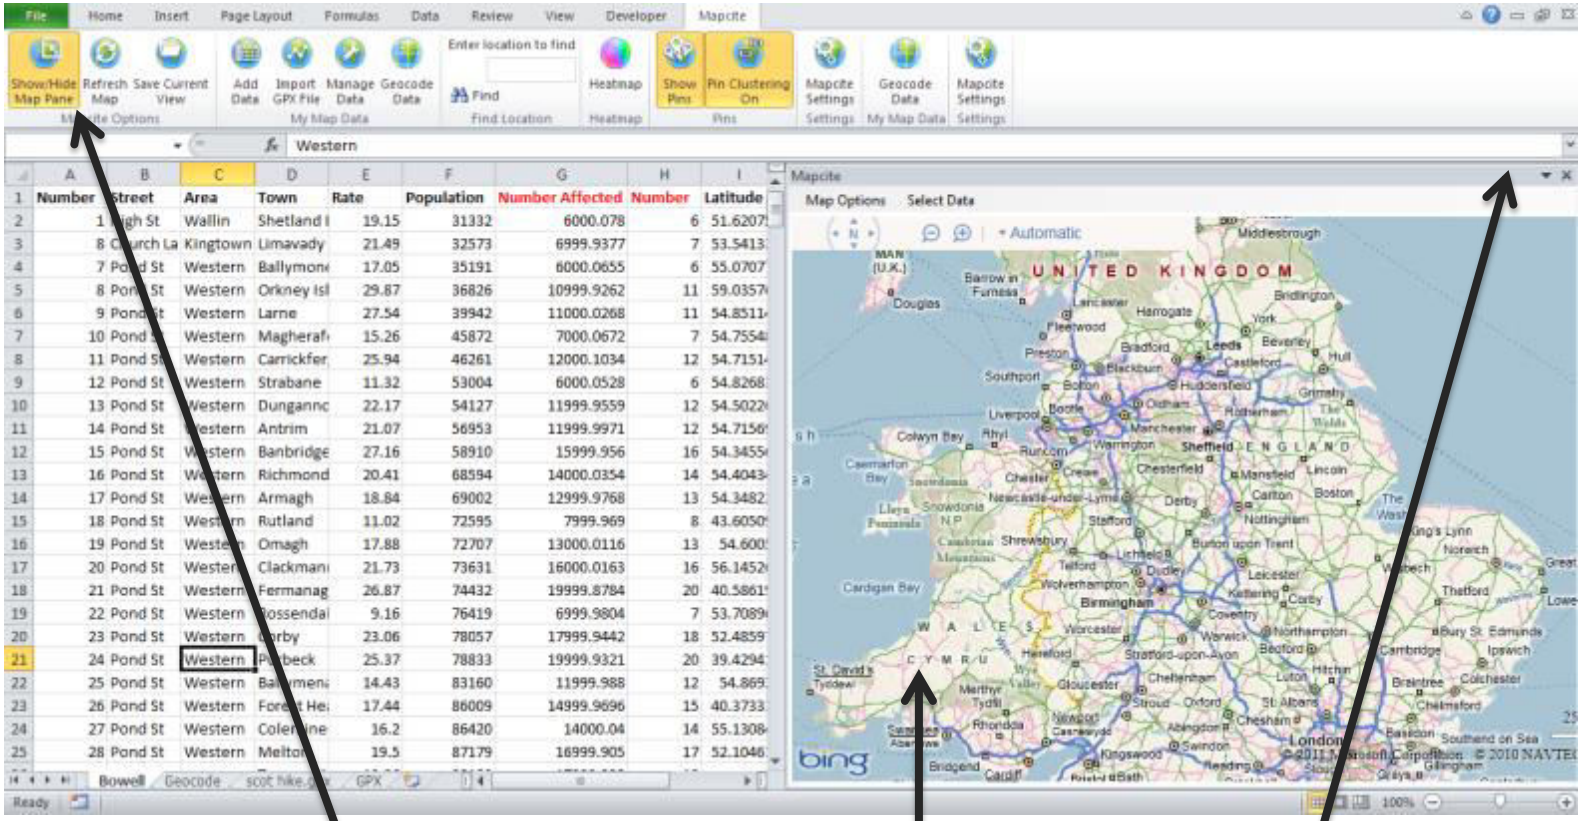
Geocoding adds a Longitude and Latitude to your dataset, it is derived from the address co-ordinates



1. Address Details
2. Latitude
3. Longitude
4. Method used to derive Lat/Lo
5. Confidence level

What Next? Add Map Viewer

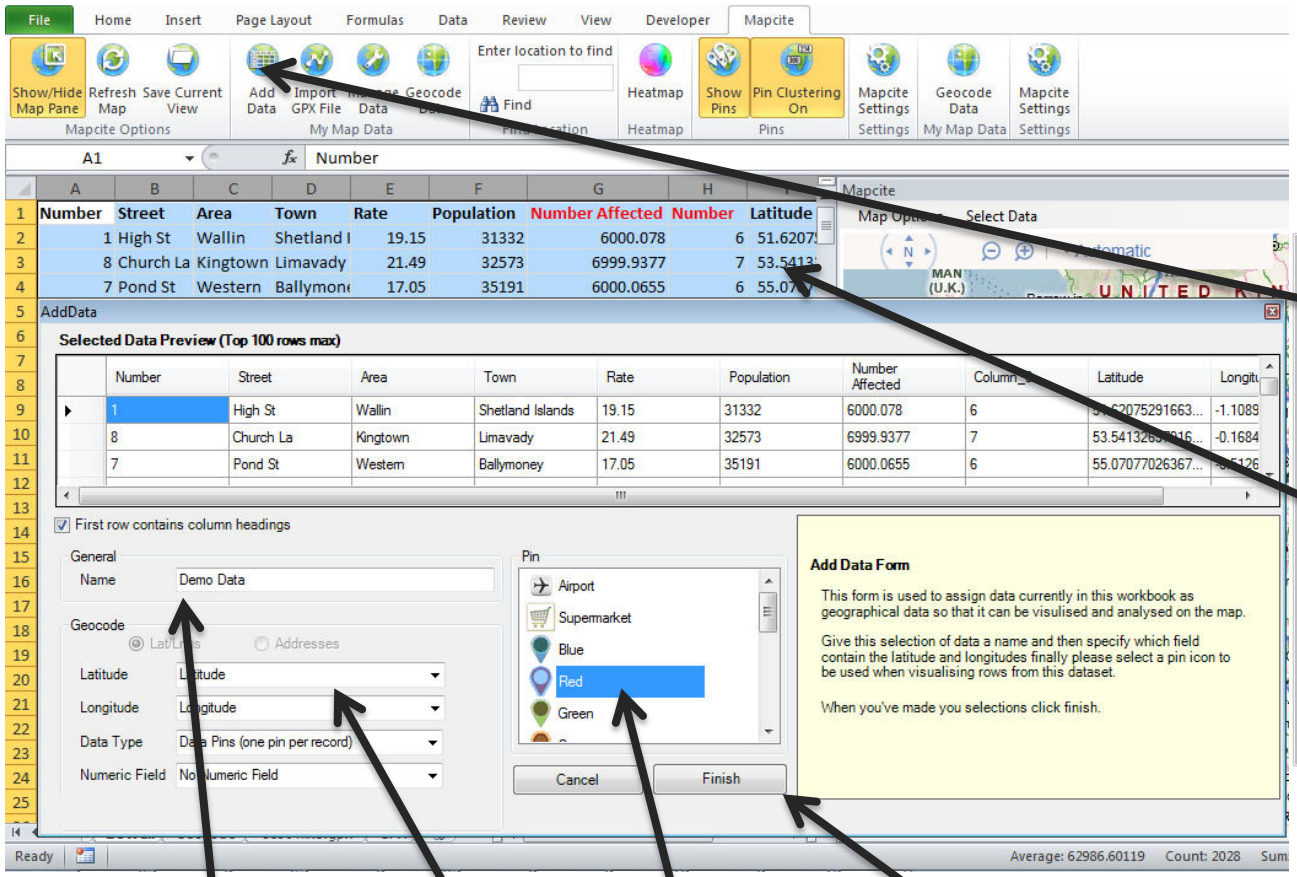
Map Viewing Pane is added to the spreadsheet enabling the data in Excel to be visualized.



1. Click Show /Hide Map Pane
2. Map Pane Occupies Position to the Right of Spreadsheet.
3. The Map Pane can be Relocated by Dragging the Top Grey Map Border

Adding Your Data to the Map

Highlight the spreadsheet data to be added to the map, remember to add Longitude & Latitude.

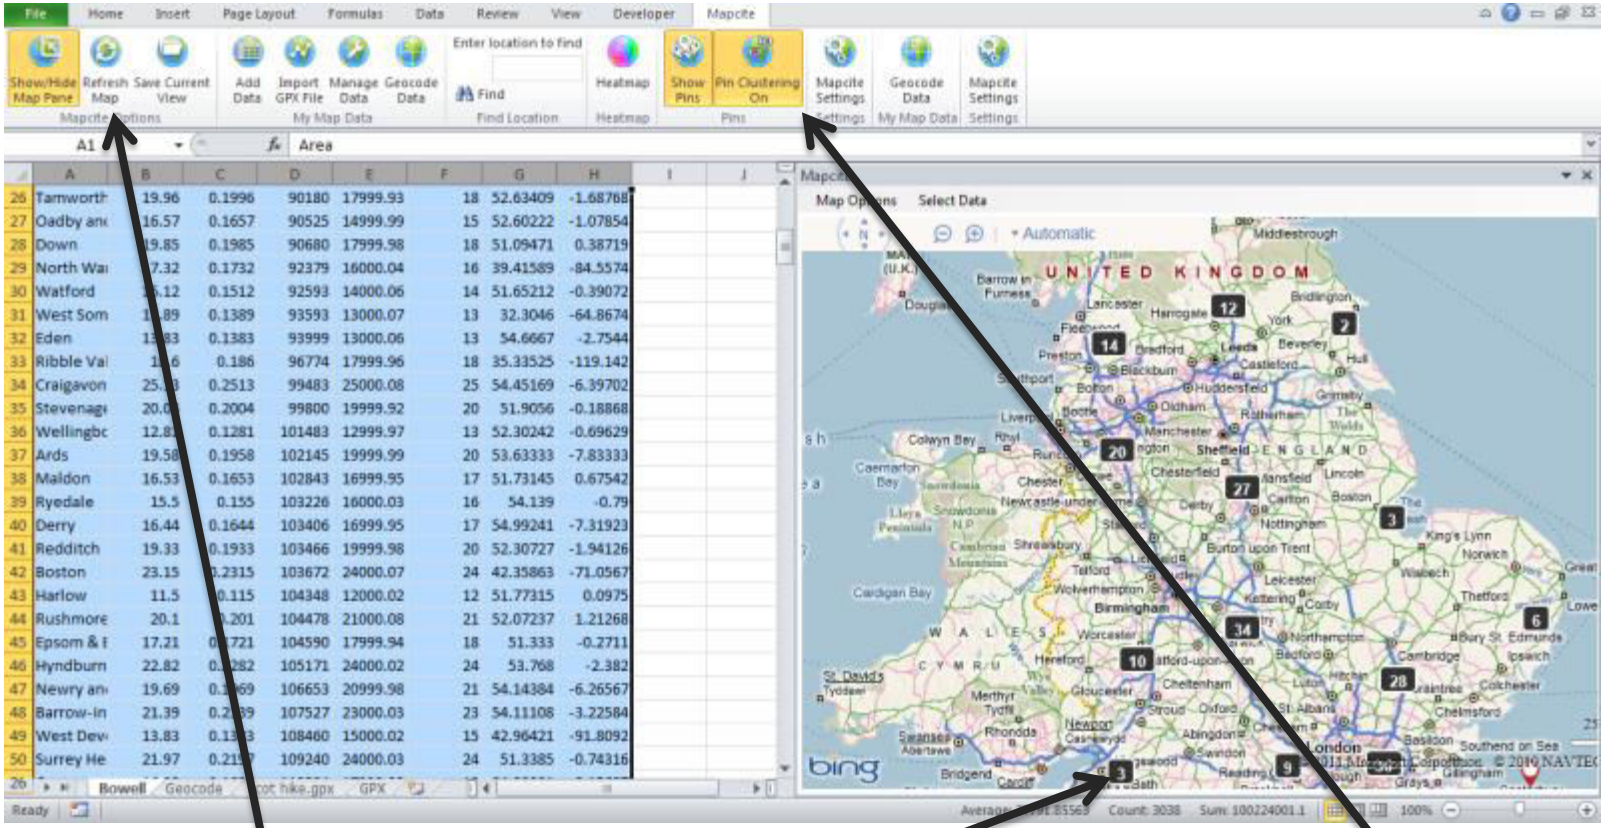


1. Click Add Data Tab
2. Highlighted Data Including Lats & Longs

1. Map Title
2. Latitude and Longitude.
3. Select Pin Type to be used on Map. Finish Button.

Refresh map, data silo's present map pins reducing overcrowding of map

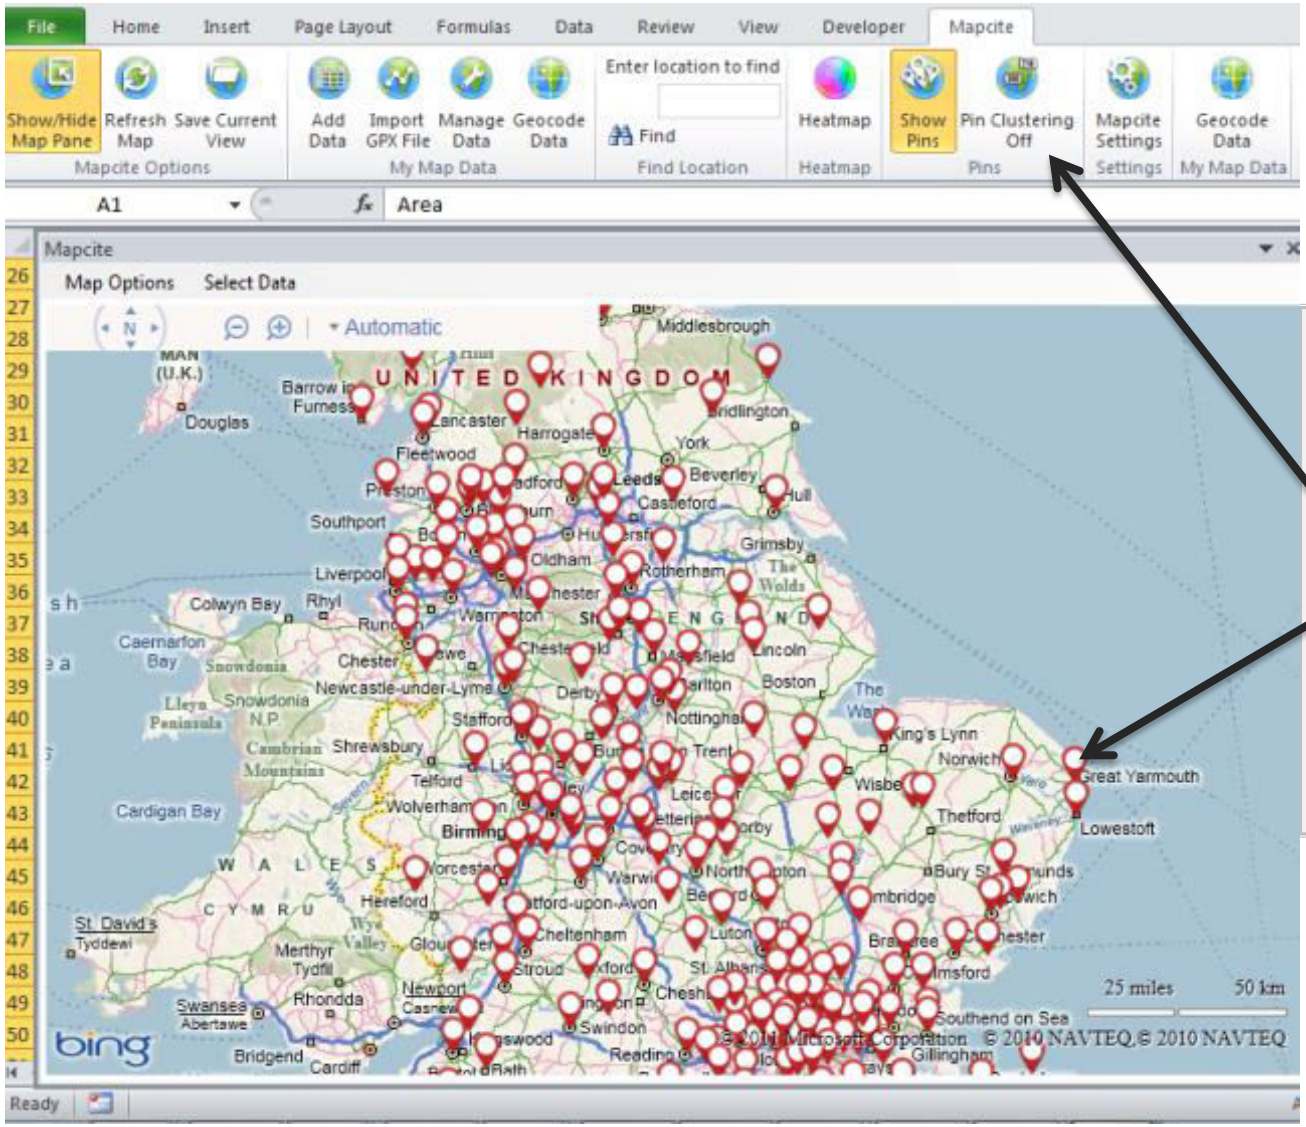
Refresh and Populate Map



1. Click Refresh Map Tab
2. Map is Presented with Map Pins within Silos.
3. Click Pin Clustering Tab to Turn Clustering Silo's off to Reveal Pins (next slide)

Viewing Pin Sets

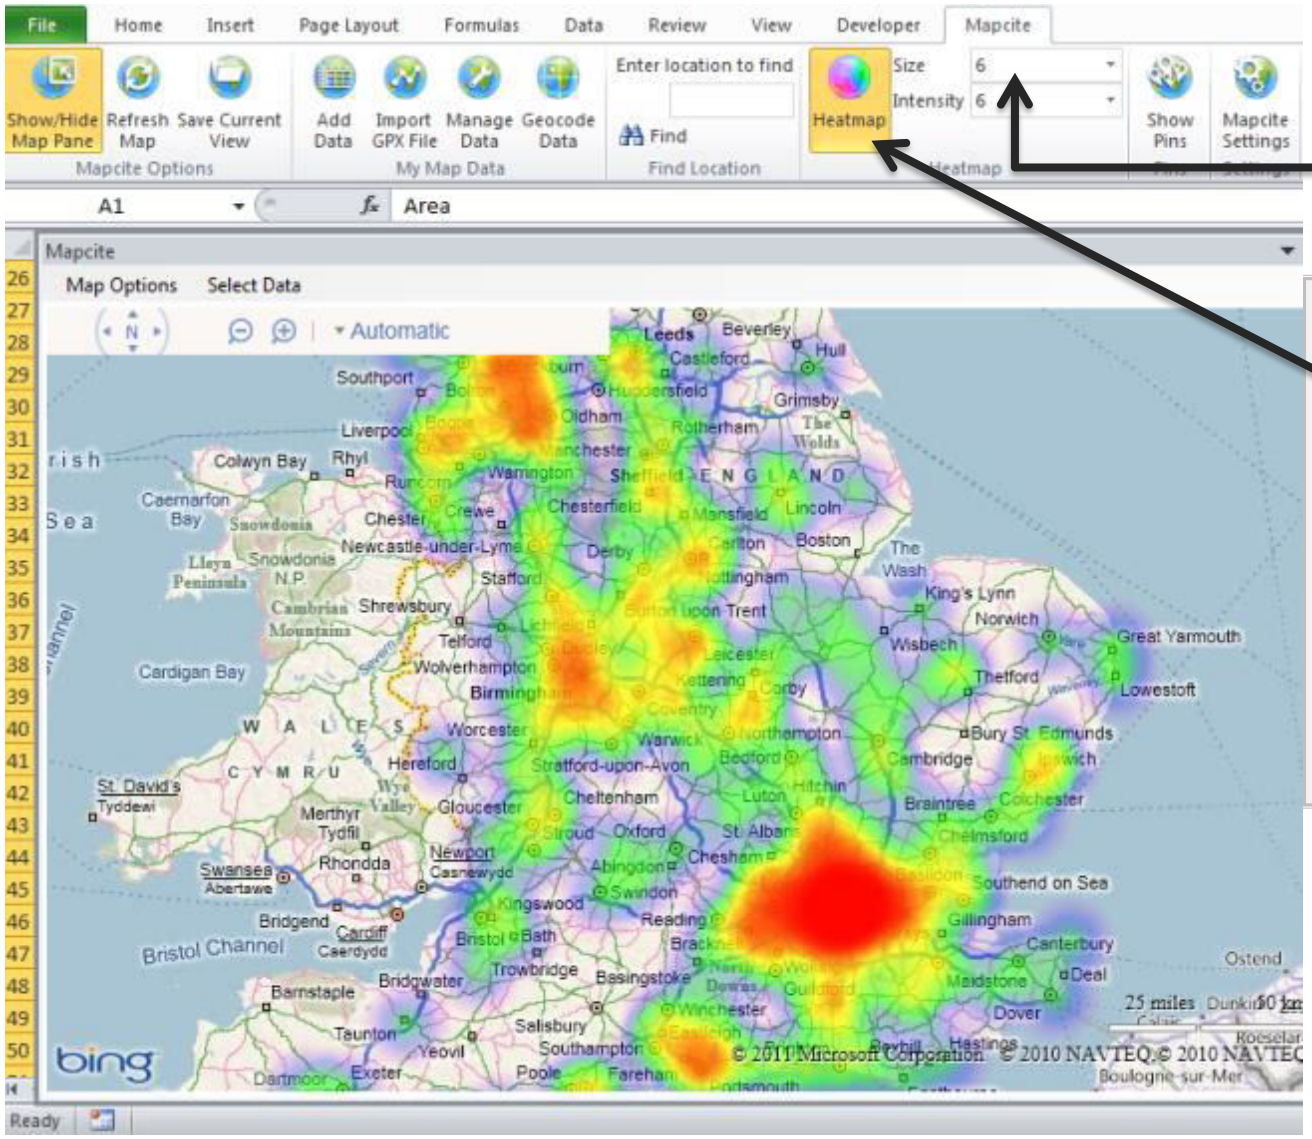
After clicking pin clustering off (previous slide) the selected dataset pins will be visible



1. Pin Clustering Off
2. Pin Icons

Heat Mapping Data Set

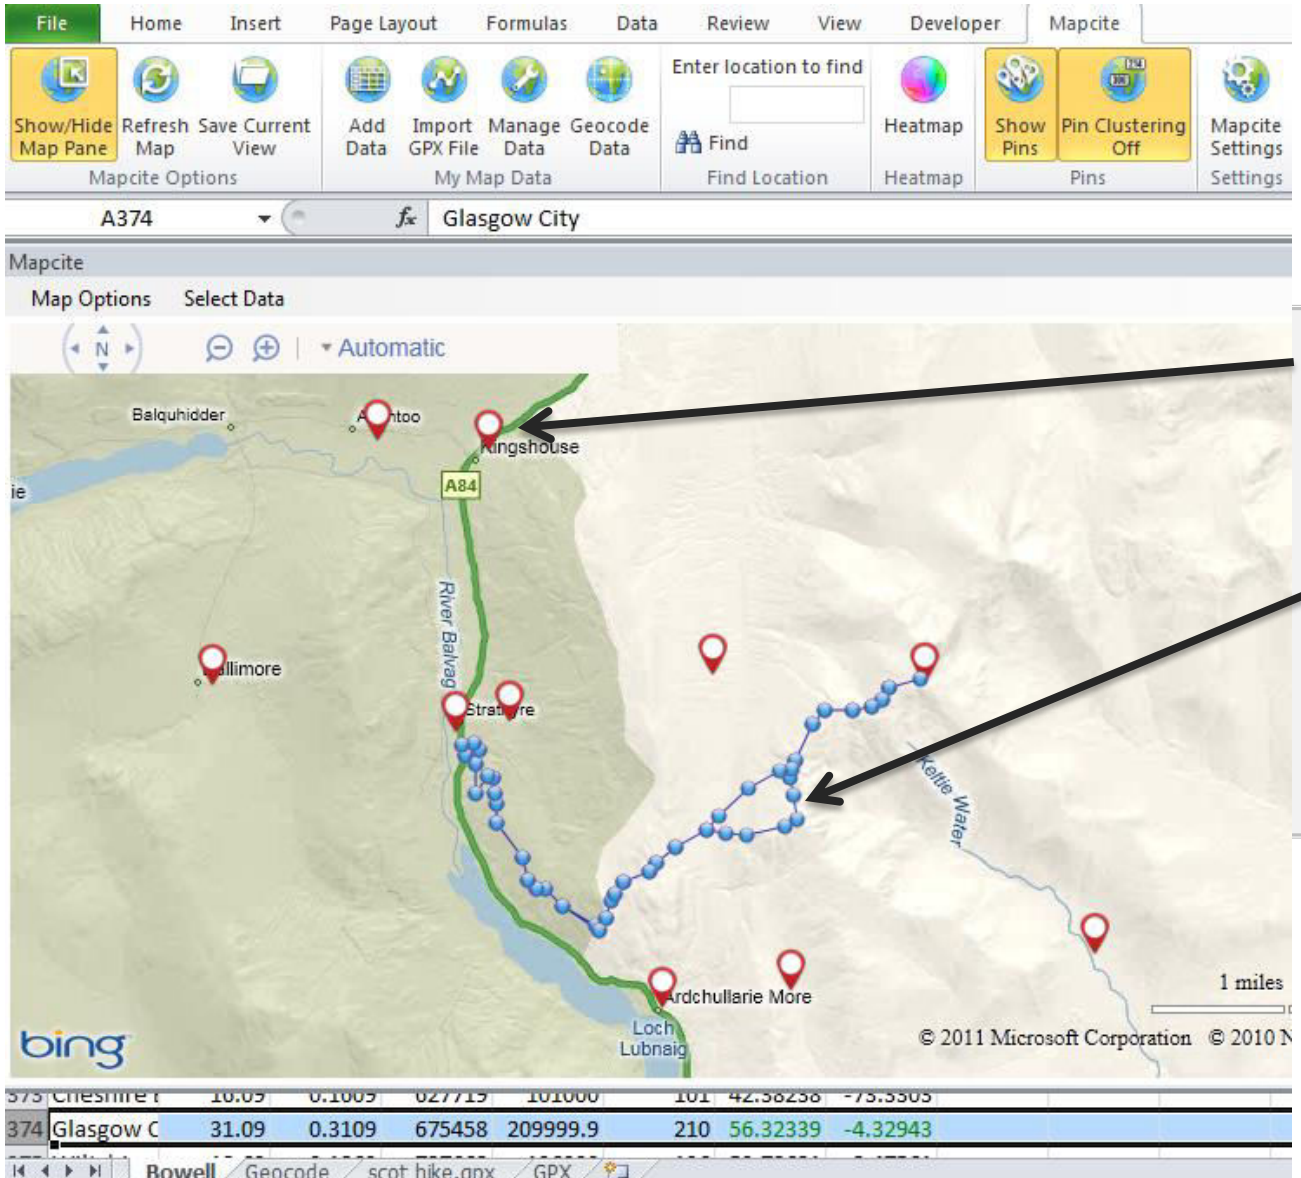
Heat mapping your dataset is as simple as clicking a button



1. Click Heat Map Tab
2. Intensity and Size of Heat Map can be Varied by Clicking Here

Adding a New Data Set

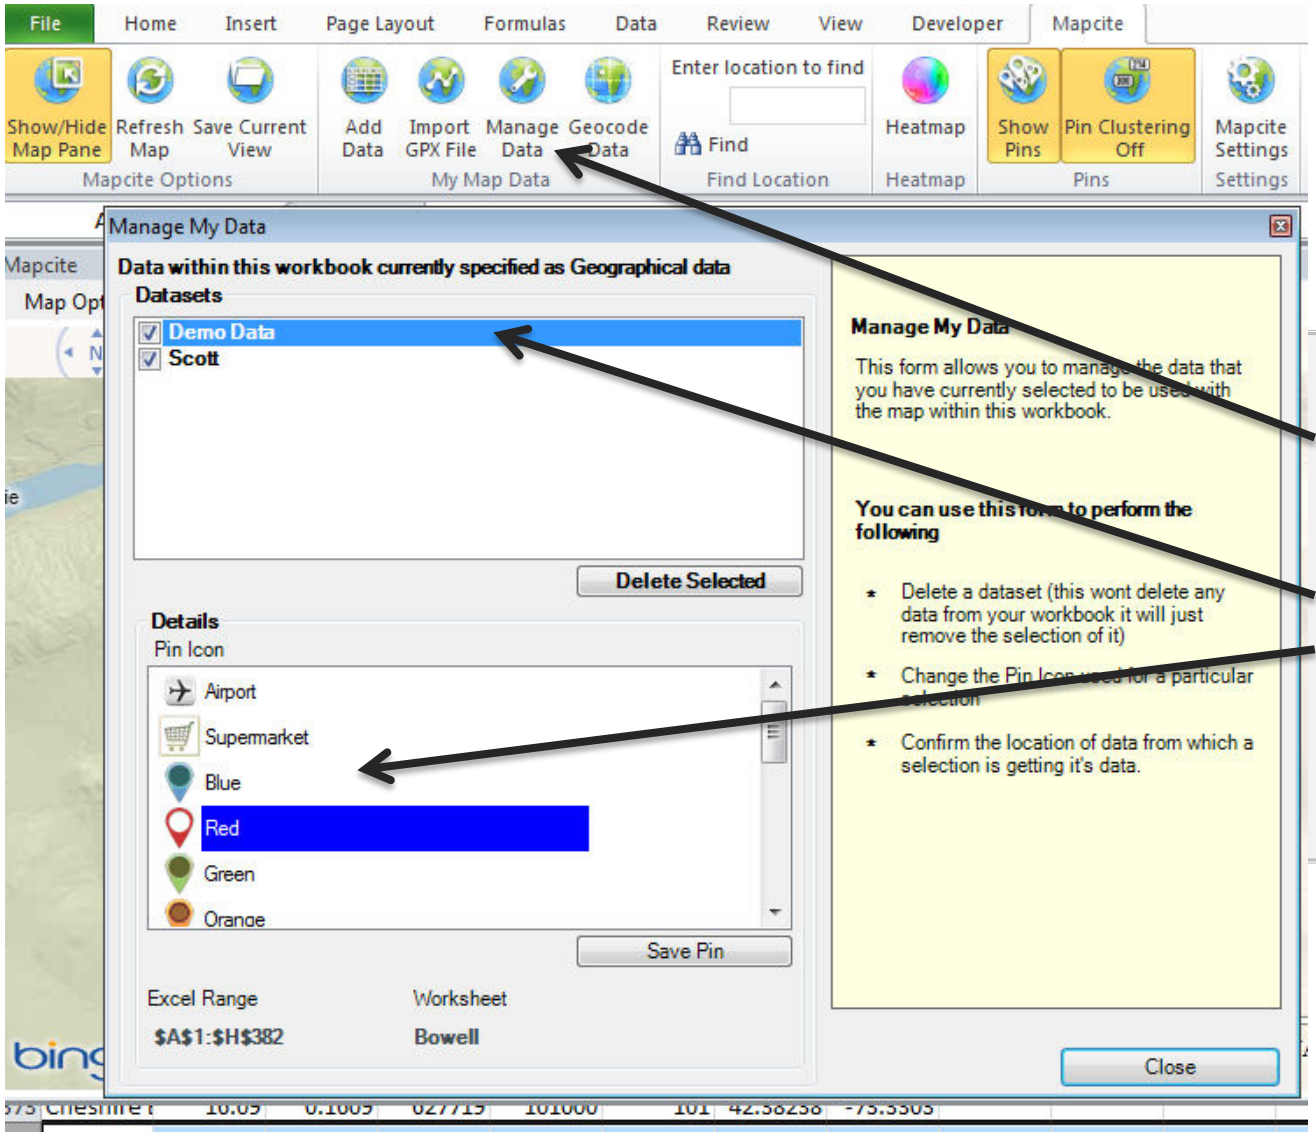
Multiple datasets can be added in the same way as a single dataset



1. Original Data Set
2. New Data Set cab be Excel, XML or GPX in this Instance Wayfarer GPX

Managing Data Sets

If multiple datasets are being used they can be managed on and off.



1. Click Manage Data
2. Select on/off
3. Change Icon Types and Colours

MAPCITE Excel®™ AddIn